Many Good Races Are Now
Assured.

EXHIBITS WILL BE FEATURE.

For the McCracken county fair, which will begin September 28 and continue for four days, the best horses at the Mayfield fair this week have been secured in addition to the string of horses already secured. Secretary Rodney Davis was in Mayfield yesterday and made arrangements with the owners of the horses to bring their best to Paducah and enter in the races. With the addition of these horses there will be plenty of entries in all of the races. Preparations are being completed rapidly for the big fall event. Not only are local merchants preparing their displays, but several foreign firms have arranged for exhibits. Some clever displays are promised. Several of the merchants will have their exhibits arranged by experienced men. The Bickenseder Manufacturing company, of St. Louis, will have an elaborate exhibit. The firm manufactures typewriters, and will display their stock amply. There is only one book that has not been taken, and no trouble is anticipated in disposing of it before the opening of the fair.

A revised list of the holders of booths is: Covington Brothers, two booths; Paducah Home Telephone company; Dupont Powder company; Michael Brothers, two booths; Engert & Bryant, three booths; Hank & Davis; Singer Sewing Machine company; Hart-Lockwood company; Paducah Light & Power company; Alex Kulp Buggy company.

The board is headed by Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers.

Calvert City Visited by Serious Fire This Afternoon—Wind is Handicap to Volunteer Fighters

Stores and Residences in Path of Flames Are Consumed, While Towns-People
Bravely Resist Advance

Calvert City, Ky., Sept. 9. (Special)

—Two business houses and one residence were destroyed today at noon by fire, and other buildings were placed in danger, but were saved after hard work by the bucket brigade. The loss will be about $4,500 with insurance amounting to $3,100. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

The fire broke out in the second story of the general mercantile store of H. E. Goodloe. At the time the proprietor had gone to dinner, and the fire was not discovered until it burst forth. At once the alarm was given, and it spread to the general mercantile store of W. R. Wilson and then to the residence occupied by Ed Morefield before the progress could be checked. A good part of the stock of the two stores was carried out by the volunteer firemen. The bucket brigade fought the fire heroically, and prevented it spreading to other nearby buildings.

The loss to H. E. Goodloe is estimated at $2,000 with $1,400 insurance; to W. R. Wilson, $2,000 with $1,500 insurance. The residence was owned by J. M. Tichenor and was valued at $500 with $250 insurance.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 9.—The removal of the county seat of Swanton county from Mountain Park to Snyder a few nights ago by stealing, in a manner resembling the removal of the state capitol to Oklahoma City, in which Governor Haskell was the central figure. The matter will assume an extraordinary stage within a day or two when the governor is called upon by Mountain Park citizens to demand that the officers and records be returned from Snyder. The governor has received no official notice of the demands, but they will appear shortly.

Building Trestles Over Black Slough

The Burlington's railroad force of tracklayers are now in the very heart of the pond region. From the Black Slough this way there are 7 short sections of trestle to complete—three of these, each about 100 feet long, lie between the Black Slough and the Courtney farm. Near the Courtney farm there are two more about 40 feet in length, one at Morgan's store about the same length, and a short piece at Charles Haverkamp's farm about 25 feet in length, this side of Forktown. The trouble is to get bridge men who are willing to endure the heat, the mosquitoes, the fogs and miasma, poor water

SPAIN'S REPLY GENERAL.

Canalejas Declares Message to Vatican Not Specific.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—Premier Canalejas, in an interview, is quoted as saying that Spain's reply to the Vatican's most recent note contains little beyond generalities and assurances that the question of church dogma is not involved, in other words, exactly like the Vatican's note.

Accordingly, the premier expects that the negotiations between Madrid and the Holy See will remain stationary until the cortes meets, when, he says, the "padlock" bill, instead of being withdrawn, will be adopted.

PARALYZED BY FALL FROM RAILROAD BRIDGE

Helpless for life, Malcomb Livingston, one of the four men who was injured by a collapse of scaffolding on the Illinois Central bridge over Cumberland river several months ago, will return to his home in Newark, O., Monday. Livingston's spine was fractured, and he is paralyzed from the waist line down. Ever since the accident he has been at the railroad hospital, and for several weeks has been able to be out in an invalid's chair, but he will never be able to walk. Yesterday a settlement was made with Livingston and the railroad company for the injury. He received $2,500 in the settlement.

along with an occasional peep at a moccasin snake. In the first of these trestles there are 96 bents—the next two have 86 bents—the three next 40 bents and the last 25 bents. Caps with stringers go on these pilings—then follows the ties and rails making slow work where the bridge force is short-handed. When the track layers get out of the ponds the work will be finished with a rush. As it is when they reach Metropolis the road will be ready for business for the reason that ballasting, switch and side tracks will all be ready for trains when the force reaches Metropolis.—Metropolis Herald.

With only 296 votes out, the lightest vote in years, the Democratic primary to nominate candidates for city offices was held yesterday. In an hour the returns were counted and announced. The day was clear and nothing to prevent the voters from reaching the precincts, but somehow no interest was manifested and few voters besides the regular party workers voted. Rogers' precinct was closed all day. The largest vote polled was 296, and Councilman P. F. Lally has the honor of receiving the highest vote for his re-nomination.

In the aldermanic race, Aldermen Ernest Lackey and J. E. Potter were renominated, while G. R. Davis and Lucien Durrett were nominated for the two vacancies. In the lower board Councilmen George Hannin, Al Foreman, P. F. Lally, were renominated.

Some one will have to get off the ticket for school trustee in the Third and Sixth wards, where two candidates were nominated in each. H. S. Wells holds over in the Third ward, having been elected for two years last year. H. G. Bradley was elected for two years in the Sixth ward in 1909 and his term will not expire for another year.

Pure Food Law Violations Will Be Prosecuted—Conference To Be Held Here With Local Offenders

Meeting Will Be Next Wednesday at City Hall—Inspection By Officers Recently Made Here.

Paducah makers and purveyors of ice cream, dairymen, butchers and cold storage concerns, who have not been conforming to the state pure food law, will be prosecuted. Officers recently visited the city, and those, who have been found guilty are about to hear from the board, as sixteen dairymen did in Lexington recently.

On that occasion the board held a conference with the guilty men, and on their promise to conform to the requirements of the law, prosecution was held up. The same policy will be pursued here, although it is thought that few Paducah concerns were found delinquent in their duty.

The board will meet at the city hall next Wednesday. Mayor Smith today receiving the following notice to that effect:

FEDERAL CONTROL OF POWER SITES

Hon. C. C. Grassham returned this morning from St. Paul, where he attended the National Conservation congress as the delegate from Kentucky. According to Mr. Grassham the congress was a big success and was graced by the presence of many distinguished men including President Taft. For several days Mr. Grassham had the sole honor of representing Kentucky, although later Dr. J. K. Patterson, of the State University, attended the congress.

St. Paul, Sept. 9.—The national conservation congress adopted a platform placing the seal of approval on national control of natural resources, and adjourned.

The following were chosen as officers: President, Henry Wallace, of Des Moines, Ia.; secretary, Thos. R. Hipp, of Indianapolis; treasurer, D. A. Latchaw, of Kansas City.

Gifford Pinchot and J. B. White, of Kansas City, declined to be nominated for the presidency and Wallace was not opposed.

O. M. Banister, of Muncie, Ind., started applause by stating that the delegates have been here four days without getting a chance to speak.

He said: "I suggest that this mistake be remedied at the next convention."

Vice presidents for each state were chosen, each speaking briefly.

A delegate from Washington state, whose name was not announced, accused Governor Hays and Land Commissioner Ross, of that state, of giving away power sites.

"No wonder they want state control," declared the delegate.

Ross defended himself with great spirit, declaring the strictures against him were baseless.

G. M. Hunt invited the next congress to meet in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Pinchot's Address.

"Like nearly every great reform, conservation first passed through a period of agitation and general approval. During this period, it met with little opposition, for as yet it interfered with no man's private profit. From the beginning of the world, the preaching of righteousness in general terms has been contemplated with entire equanimity by the men who rise in violent protest the moment their own particular privilege, graft, or advantage comes practically into question. That protest marks the second phase of the reform.

"Within the last two years, conservation has passed out of the realm of an unimpeachable general principle into that of a practical fighting attempt to get things done. It has

THREE MEN KILLED OUTRIGHT.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The investigation into the cause of the accident on the battleship North Dakota, when three men were killed and nine injured, it is believed here today will go "behind the returns," in an effort to discover the elementary trouble which caused three naval disasters this year. The fact that the North Dakota is the latest product of the highest skill available in this country disheartens naval officers. In a dispatch to the navy department today, Admiral Schroeder gives no new information, being unable to explain the cause. He declares the explosion was not due to carelessness.

Fort Monroe, Va., Sept. 9.—Another of those tragedies which go to show that the sailor offers his life in his country in time of peace as well as in time of war was enacted yesterday morning in the dreadnaught North Dakota, about ten miles from Norfolk, in lower Chesapeake bay, when an explosion of oil and the ensuing fire cost the lives of three men and more or less serious injuries to nine others, including Chief Lieut. Orin G. Murfin.

The accident happened far from any shore, and for several hours the wildest rumors were circulated, that having widest circulation being to the effect that the Delaware, sister ship of the North Dakota, had blown up.

The official report of Admiral Schroeder to the navy department names the following dead and injured in the fire on the battleship North Dakota.

Chairman Nelson at noon called off the meeting of the committee here and called a meeting at the Congress hotel in Chicago next Tuesday. The anti-Ballinger members declare they will continue their deliberations here and report, but will not attend the meeting at Chicago.
